Tottori, Japan, Sept. 11, 1895.
Mason & Hamlin Co.,
146—Boylston St., Boston
Gentlemen:—The piano has had a eventful a career in some ways as any in Japan, I suppose. The steamer it came on was captured and held some weeks by the Chinese. On arriving late in Japan it had to be transported over sundry railroads, and at last carted on a hand-cart 70 miles over two high mountain ranges by terribly bad roads. Since then it has passed a cold winter and hot summer, both terribly damp. In spite of that, and the fact that it has not been tuned since leaving your warerooms, it retains its pitch and tone delightfully.
Yours very truly,

United Kingdom

The Dongola Expedition.

Tightening the grasp on Egypt.

Skilful move on the International Chessboard.

London, 10th—A Cabinet Council was held to-day to consider the question of the Dongola Expedition, General Wolseley was present, and he expressed his opinion that the expedition should proceed very cautiously in the Soudan on account of the difficulties of securing provisions, at least until September.

The Radical papers state that there is no longer any doubt as to the real motive of Great Britain's assistance to Italy.

The Westminster Gazette states that the combined action against the Dervishes is the price paid by England for the support of Germany and Austria for the maintenance of British supremacy in Egypt Hence the expedition to Dongola.

The Daily News correspondent in Rom says that Count Nigra, the Italian Ambassador in Vienna, is working for a renewal of the Triple Alliance and had a long interview with Count Gulduchowski, the Austrian Chancellor, before leaving for Rome, and agreed fully with him on the bases for continuing the alliance.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Curzon the sub-secretary for Foreign Affairs stated that the Italian Goverdment had expressed satisfaction at the British expedition to Dongola.

In the House of Lords, Lord Salisbury stated this evening that the expedition to Dongola was intended to keep the Dervishes in check and to prevent the fort of Kassala from falling into the hands of the Mahdi.

The news is now confirmed that President Krûger will shortly pay England a visit in order to come to a definite settlement of the Transvaal Questioh.

Italy

Death of Arimondi and Bormida.

Suspension of hostilities.

The arrival of the Hohenzollern.

Rudini's voice for War.

More money to keep the Rifles going.

Rome, 17th—A telegram from General Baldissera comfirms the death of Generals Arimondi and Bormida. According to accounts both generals died at the head of their regiments and their last words were "Viva Italia."

The Cabinet was agreed to petition the Chamber for 150,000,000 liras loan to cover the expenses in Abyssinia.

About 2000 students met this morning in Naples to protest against the projected peace settlement with Menelik. Some disorder was caused by a few socialist students who cried out "Peace for ever." The consequence was that the others rejected them.

The royal yacht Hohenzollern arrived in Genoa this morning, and is waiting for Emperor William to take him to Naples, where the conference will take place between the German Emperor and King Humbert.

Rome, 17th—News has been received from authentic sources to the effect that the reinforcements sent to Kassala to the assistance of Major Hidalgo, have arrived unmolested by the Dervishes.

At the Cabinet Council held to-day the Marquis of Rudini stated that peace with Abyssinia was not yet signed and indeed was very far from it. He stated, moreaver, that the Government would apply for a credit of 140 million lires to continue the campaign and ensure an honorable peace in accordance with Italy's traditions. He rejected the idea of colonial expansion, nor did he advocate a protectorate. In conclusion he stated that the Government aimed at maintaining order at home and carrying out the programme of the Triple Alliance. These statements have caused a favorable impression, for the public appear anxious that the campaign should be continued.

The political amnesty accorded by King Humbert on the occasion of his birthday has created enthusiasm and increased his popularity. The Socialists de Felice and Bosco have been released under this Amnesty. Last night they were the object of an enthusiastic manifestation. De Felice made a speech repeatedly interrupted by thunders of applause. He stated that he was a greater socialist than ever. Bosco intends returning to Sicily to resume his propaganda.

There were no less than 5000 people at the railway station to receive de Felice. The crowd shouted: down with the Africans! and Long live the Socialists!

The mob then unharnessed the horses and dragged his carriage to his hotel. There de Felice begged the crowd to disperse in order to avoid all question with the police.

Rome, 17th—Parliament was reopened this afternoon. There was an enormous crowd in the street, and Cavalotti was cheered vociferously, as also other Radical members. Premier Rudini read the programme of the new Cabinet. He said he had telegraphed to General Baldissera to act prudently till a definite decision as to carrying on the war was come to. He said the Government opposed a continuance of the war, as it would ruin Italy, and he hoped the negotiations with Menelik, commenced on the 8th inst., would lead to a peace honourable for Italy. He was opposed to colonial expansion, as the finances would not allow of it. He did not want to conquer the Tigre, nor did he aspire to an Italian Protectorate over Abyssinia. He asked for 140 millions of lire for the war expenses incurred by his predecessor, and he thought the amount could be raised by a Home Loan. He called on all political parties to sink their differences and help him to restore tranquility and prosperity to Italy

In the Home policy of the country the Cabinet will devote its attention to the solution of the social problems; abroad—to the preservation of friendly relations and its alliances; and the development of the nation's commerce. Rudini's speech was much applauded.

The Prime Minister delivered an analagous speech in the Senate which met with a favourable reception.

The request for a war-credit of 140 million lire has been referred to committee.

United States

The Question of Belligerency.

Maceo dodges Weyler.

Washington, 17th—At yesterday's sitting of the Senate, Mr. Elkins (Republican), presented a motion that goes much further than Sherman's. Mr. Elkins proposed that before voting on the Cuban question, the Foreign Affairs Committee should make the following inquiries:—

Whether the operations in Cuba are being carried out in accordance with the rules of modern warfare.

The number of the respective forces.

Whether the insurgents have an organized Government.

What towns and positions are held by the insurgents.

What effect would be produced on the rebel cause and on the relations between Spain and the United States by recognition of belligerency.

Senator Morgan proposed a conference to decide these questions.

New York, 17th—There is no longer any doubt that Maceo at the head of nine thousand men has eluded the vigilance of Gen. Weyler and entered the province of Piñar del Mar.

New York, 17th—The rebels are pillaging the factories in the province of Havannah. At Guara they burned down a number of houses and stores. The inhabitants fled towards the sea-coast.

It appear that General Calixto Garcia is on board the Bermuda.

Washington, 17th—Mr. Olney, Secretary of State, will, within the fortnight submit to Great Britain the basis of an arrangement of the Venezuelan Question.

Spain

Official news from Cuba.

Madrid, 17th—Disquieting rumours are afloat in regard to events in Cuba, and people are beginning to doubt the veracity of the official telegrams from the seat of revolution, in view of the facility with which Maceo baffles General Weyler. The Press call for more energy to pursue the campaign.

Germany

Berlin, 17th—The number of suicides in the army has decreased greatly in the past few months.

Herr Gruppe, the famous man of letters, died this afternoon in Lübeck.

Austria

Vienna, 17th—The condition of the Archduke, heir to the throne, is still critical, and the recent improvement in his health has disappeared.

France

Paris, 17th—Telegrams from Nice say that the Empress of Austria left Cap Martin this morning for Naples, where she will stay for some weeks before returning to Vienna.

Mr, Berthelot, the Minister for Foreign Affairs held this afternoon a long interview with Lord Dufferin, the British Ambassador. It is known that the French diplomatist called the attention of Lord Dufferin to the serious consequences that might ensue fromthe expedition to Dongola. The insinuation has set speculation to work in the mind of the French public.

Belgium

Brussels, 17th—The miners in the Seraing Department have gone out on strike to the number of 1200. It is feared that the movement may spread to the neighbouring districts.

Portugal

Lisbon, 17th—Captain Mousinho who recently brought to a successful termination the African campaign by the capture of the Chief Gungunhana, has been promoted to the rank of Major.

Russia

St. Petersburg, 17th—A rumour is current that the Negus Menelik has announced to the Emperor that he will shortly visit Europe.

Chile

The Trial of the Submarine Huber.

The Limits Question.

The National Guard.

Valparaiso, 17th—Exchange on London at 17⅛.

Telegrams from Talcahuano report that the trial trips of the submarine Huber have proved a great success. The calculations of the inventor have turned out exact. A large party of naval and engineering circles were present at the trial; the general opinion was very favorable. In a few days there will be another trial which will take place under water.

A long article was published to-day by Mr. Serrano Montaner in the La Union on the limits question in which he says that if Chile were to accept the present Argentine claims, Chile would lose a large piece of territory. The article goes on stating that it does not believe that Chile has produced a man who would accept the present modifications, and if war should break out between the two nations, the entire fault lies with the Argentine Republic. The tone of the letter means to say that the two countries are watching each other in a rather unpleasant manner.

The decree on the National Guard has been published, ordering all to enrol from 18 to 50 years of age. The enrolment will take place during the month of April.

Brazil

Yellow Fever.

150 cases daily.

The departure of the Lombardia.

The sugar crop.

Rio Janeiro, 17th—A most unpleasant piece of news was announced this morning: when everybody thought the yellow fever over on board the Lombardia, it was reported at an early hour that ten new cases had declared themselves on board the worst case is the doctor's. It was determined to-day that the Lombardia should ship coal and stores and immediately leave for the islands of Cabo Verde. Those attacked by the fever are tobe isolated iu Isla Grande.

There were 50 deaths yesterday, and latter on it was stated that there were 150 fresh cases.

The crop of sugar is very middling this season.

Exchange on London is at 8 15/16 and 9.

LAND REVIVAL.

The sale in La Plata on last Thursday of what are termed "sobrante" estancia lands, at prices seven times over the upset figure or legal valuation, is another reminder how steadily estancia land all over the country is advancing. We cannot say the same for city house property, since only last Sunday a nice dwelling-house in Almagro, within half a square of Calle Rivadavia, was sold for the miserable price of $8,200 paper, when but four years ago, and almost in the height of the crisis, it fetched $12,000 m/n, and the owner made a further outlay of 4,000 to 5,000 m/n on it. Thus the price paid now is but 50 per cent. of its actual cost; and we know of a nice quinta house in Flores, well situated, which cost the owner some twenty years ago fully 16,000 gold dollars, sold a few months ago for 16,000 paper; and even in the very best and most fashionable streets in the city. fine houses that four years ago fetched easily 100,000 m/n, to-day cannot be sold for 80,000 m/n. Thus it is that whilst city property shows a decline, camp properties evidence a most decided rise.

Only the other day a rich Englishman who visited this country for the first time and had a look round at some of the best estancias in the South, assured us that Mr. Luro, who has a large estancia of some 80 leagues of land South of the Colorado, had refused an offer of $40,000 m/n per league for the property. although but 4 years ago, a fine piece of land adjoining Luro's and which is now covered with Basque sheep puestos, was bought by an Irishman for five thousand dollars per league, and for which land the owner has had several offers of $20,000 m/n per league from rich Basque farmers of the neighbourhood.

The sale of land now by the Provincial Government of Buenos Aires which has attracted our attention is not only important, but significant, since the auction was by order of the Fisco of the Province and the valuation set on the land was fixed by the Minister at a figure corresponding, as he thought, with its market value.

The first lot put up was 1171 hectares which is very close on half a league of camp, in the remote partido of Balcarce. Thousands of our rich Irish sheep farmers in the north of this provincet know about as much of Balcarce and its camps as our Argentine friends do of the Curragh of Kildare or the Gap of Dunloe. Balcarce was in the hands of the Indians a few years ago. It was up to yesterday a wild district between Ayacucho and the Atlantic: some parts of it are very high, being 800 feet over the sea level; according to the last census there are 4 inhabitants to the square mile, and the camp people live mostly in mud huts or ranchos. The town of Balcarce was founded in 1876, and is 240 miles from Buenos Aires, with which city it is now connected by the Great Southern Railway Necochea branch. The Anchorenas, Lezamas, Martinez de Hoz and Saenz Valiente's own immense properties in the partido, and there are a few English such as Patterson, Hardy, McGaul, McConnell and others. We give these details merely to impress on our readers how much estancia land is going up when at a public government auction the land valued by Government at $26,000 m/n per league, sells for per league, and as a matter of course, an Englishman the buyer, Mr. Andrew McGaul.

The next lot put up was a small chacra lot of but 171 hectares in the new 'partido' of General La Madrid. This 'partido' was discovered by our old friend Mr. Edward Casey. Previous to his time nobody ever heard of the place; it is a piece cut off the district of Curamalan, and was we believe first known as La Gama. The Great Southern Railway has a station there, and within the last year or so the few people in the district have taken to the plough. This little farm sold by auction was valued at $13 per hectare and fetched double the valuation, $26 per hectare, bought by Mr. Stephen Dubart.

The third lot put up has more importance for our readers, since it was 1/3 of a league, and in the new and rising 'partido' of Lincoln.

The upset price was $10 the hectare and it sold for $26,50 the hectare, which brings the price out at $68,900 per square league. Nearly all of our readers know all about the Partido Lincoln? It did not exist in the days of Father Fahy; it is a vast western district with two inhabitants to the square mile; it lies South West of the Salado, and was regarded as Indian territory up to the year 1870, when two or three Irishmen clubbed together, got a couple of 'tropillas' of horses, and drove out to Fort Ituzaingo. They had a look at the camps, came back to town, attended a Provincial Government land auction, and bought some lands out there on the easy terms of the Government, with long credits at about 2,000 gold dollars per league. In a few years afterwards people who had bought at the Government land auction began to resell at a profit, and when General Roca became President, the Lincoln camps became the subject of great speculation. Some of the largest wired-in estancias of the country are in this 'partido', which is now connected with Buenos Aires by the new branch of the Western Railway. The Duggan estancia covers 500 square miles, the town of Lincoln was founded in 1867 on the site of Fort Chañar; it is now a rising town of 4,000 inhabitants. Lincoln is 180 miles West of Buenos Aires, and Mr. Benitez, one of our most active land brokers says that these lands are worth to-day from 80,000 to 120,000 the square leagues. The Government sale therefore which we now refer to shows that Mr. Peter Rodriguez, the purchaser, has got a great bargain.

The next lot sold was 1018 hectares in the partido of Trenquelauquen, which as well all know is the present terminus of the Western railway and the great portal of the Pampa Central. It is the frontier department of the western camps taken from the Indians by the late Colonel Alsina. In some parts it is wooded. One of the first settlers was our lamented friend Mr. William MacClymont, who with his foreman Purvis was killed by the Indians in May 1883. The department was formed in 1886, and has one inhabitant to the square mile. The principal estancieros are Brown, Cambaceres, Drysdale, Durañona, Girondo, Ham, Jauraguy, La Coste and Pereda. There are two schools, and the town has about 3,000 inhabitants; it is 278 miles west of Buenos Aires and 210 north of Bahia Blanca Mr. Roberts, the popular and active manager of the Western Railway, made a plunge into the Pampa Central a few months ago to have a look at the camps for his proposed new extension: he galloped about 100 leagues, and to his astonishment at every half league he came upon a sheep puesto, and the country which he was led to believe as an open, desolate plain turned out to be one vast and continued sheep farm in the hands of thousands of industrious hard working Basques and Italians. Mr. Roberts's experiences correspond very much with those of our friend, Mr. Barrow, who in his Strawberry Railway exploration to Neuquen came upon more flocks of sheep along the route than would fit in the most favoured partido of the Province of Buenos Aires. Both Barrow and Roberts came back from their excursions with very improved notions about these outside lands, and Roberts is about the best authority in this market to say whether the Government sale of the lot now referred to is dear or cheap. According to the figure paid at the auction the price comes out per square league at 48.100 m/n. Mr. Michael Nazar was the buyer.

The last lot sold at this Government auction is not to say of much importance. A small farm of 47 hectares in the partido Olavarria, upset price $40 hectare, and sold for $80 per hectare; but this price forms no just basis for the valuation of estancia land in that partido, and the sale merely goes to show that chacra land down there is worth double what the Minister valued it at. The partido of Olavarria is a high rolling country beyond the sierras of Azul, with three inhabitants to the square mile; it is in some parts one thousand feet over the sea level, watered by streams from the mountains, the camps are very fertile and equally good for pasture or tillage. The department was formed in 1865, but was often overrun by Indians until the late Coronel Alsina made his frontier ditch in 1877. The peculiarity of Olavarria is that the provincial government started a Russian coloney there and made the colonists a free grant of two hundred and forty square miles, divided up into twelve hundred farms of 120 acres each. It is estimated that there are about 400,000 acres under crops and about four millions head of stock between cattle, sheep and horses. Immense tracts of land are owned by the Aguilars, Alvarez, Meabes, Olazabals, Otamendis, Pereyras, Saavedras, Vegas, etc. whose people live mostly in mud huts or ranchos as they did a hundred years ago. The department is considered to be half the size of the kingdom of Belgium. The town of Olavarria was started in the year 1879, and has made great progress since the opening of the Great Southern Railway in 1884. It is ten hours from Buenos Aires and ten hours from Bahia Blanca. A few miles from the town is the Penitentiary of Sierra Chica, whose quarries are worked by convicts.

It is probable that in the turn of a few years the partido will be all under agriculture, as the land is particularly adapted for wheat, maize, linseed, potatoes and alfalfa. The auction sale by the provincial government to which we have referred will now form the basis value for chacra land in that partido, namely $80 the hectare. In reviewing this important Government land auction we have but to add that we fully concur with Mr. Benitez, the great land broker, who is of opinion that the best of all investments in this country to-day is estancia and farm lands at their present prices.

HORACE TO ERIN.

THE LOST ODE.

(Discovered by "Scævola" in the belfry-tower of Notre Dame, Paris, Jan. 22, 1896.)

AD JUVERNAM.

Vos precor votis, lepidæ sorores,
(Nam piis gaudent precibus Camenæ)
Ante quam nervos citharæ sonantes
Pollice tangam.

Quo canam Sapho prius æmulati
Non modis unquam cecinere vates;
Temporum tandem pateat vetustas;
Sæcla loquantur!

Me vocant multi numerosque poscunt
Qui jacent dudum sine laude manes;
Gesta Juverne veteris virosque
Carmine dicam!

E sinu florem medio virentem
Insulam tollit tenebrosa Tethys:
Hœc procul nantas recreat profundum
Visa per æquor!

Hoc minus circum furit unda litus,
Fluctibus mulcet querulis arenam;
Concidunt venti; maris hic corusca
Gemma quiescit.

Non domos novit populus superbas,
Nec togas molles, nec opes avitas,
Dura sed robur validis egestas
Mentibus addit.

Hic colunt casti juvenes pudorem
Et gravi parent docilis senectæ.
Arma vix belli miserumve nomen
Novit Ierne.

Militum nunquam peregrina turba
Trivit intactum pede litus; alma
Gaudet æternum medium per æquor
Insula pace.

Perfidum fœdus fuge barbarorum
Ecce Britones (!) meditantur æstus!
Ne juvet Tethys scelus hoc, suumque
Servet ocellum!

Invoca sævos tibi qui paludum
Gurgites imos habitant dracones:
Sibilis rapent miseros et hostes
Ore vorabunt!

Hic tamen gratæ generosa proles
Insulæ, nobis manea, Mylatri,
Qui colit mentem veneranda virtus
Et decus omne.

Me juvat tecum lepide jocari
Dum bibis vini pateras facetus,
Et siti semper premeris, propago
Vera gigantum,

Qui sibi vastos calices per arva
Libero plenos posuere turres:
Igne succenso calidi trahebant
Nectaris haustus!

Hic bibas vinum vetus: hic, Mylatri,
Gesta majorum mihi die tuorum;
Festus et lætas resonet per ædes
Clamor Iernen!

LITERAL TRANSLATION.

Ye by my prayers I beseech, graceful Sisters (for the Muses enjoy the prayers of the just), ere I touch with my finger the sonorous chords of the lyre. The poets who formerly rivalled Sappho never sang in numbers the things I shall sing. Let the antiquity of ages unbosom itself: let centuries speak. Many illustrious dead who have long slept without praise claim me and my verses, but in this ode I will sing the exploits of old Ireland. Dark Tethys (the sea) displays on her bosom this green island like a flower, and seen from afar on the deep ocean it delights the sailors. The wave is less furious round this shore and with plaintive billows caresses the sand. The winds subside, and here reposes this bright gem of the sea. The people (of the island) know not superb palaces nor effeminate dress, nor hereditary wealth, but hardship addsto their vigorous minds. There the chaste youth cultivate virtue, and docile obey a wise old age (listen to the wisdom of years). Ireland barely knows the arms or the unfortunate name of war. Never have a wandering crowd of soldiers trod this untouched shore; the island in the midst of the sea, eternally enjoys a beneficent peace. Fly the treacherous treaty (alliance) of barbarians. Behold, the Britons are preparing their ruses, But let Tethys forbid this crime and protect the apple of her eye! Call to thy aid the terrible snakes that inhabit the depths of thy marshes. They crawl with hisses and they will eat up the unfortunate invaders. Nevertheless, remain here with us, Mylatrius, generous son of the beautiful island, whose mind is adorned by courage and every quality. It delights me to joke with thee, whilst jovial thou drinkest many a cup of wine, while thirst ever oppresses thee, true descendant of those giants — who erected for themselves throughout the land like vast bowls towers filled with liquor: lighting a fire, they drank deep draughts of the hot nectar. Here thou shalt drink old wine, here, Mylatrius, thou shall relate to me the deeds of thy ancestors, and let a joyful clamor reecho through the gay house the name of Ireland!

"FREE AND EASY" TRANSLATION.

(On my shoulders is thrown the task of presenting in a modern garb to the readers of the classical STANDARD this incomparable Horatian Ode, whose exquisite sweetness and genuine melody leave not the faintest doubt as to the authenticity of its origin. In the appended stanzas I seek not (for it would be impossible) to convey the Horatian spirit and graceful cadence of the pentameter, but I flatter myself that I have given a modern touch to the ideas, and I feel—in penning the translation—that I am playing on the barrel organ a tune that was meant for Melpomene's lyre.

To General Mitre, of course, I leave the task of clothing the ode in the sonorous abundance of pure Castilian. And now one word more:—In the 4th stanza I have rendered "e sinu medio" (on her bosom) by "her watery stays"—in reference to the sea—which is more in accordance with our modern notions of female attire—while indirectly conveying the "fin de siécle" impression of the ocean being "decolleté."

It will be seen that I have sailed as close to the text as practicable, but occasionally the breeze of versification and the current of political opinions have pushed me out of my course. For instance, in the 7th stanza, I have gone out of my way to pay a compliment to the sires of the illustrious jeunesse doree of Erin, but the idea the bard intended to convey has been rendered—(strange coincidence!)—by Moore (Les beaux esprits, etc!—thus:

For although they love woman and golden store,
Sir Knight, they love honor and virtue more!

The snakes mentioned in the tenth stanza are unquestionably the very reptiles St. Patrick, with Christian zeal, but little political foresight, drove away from Ireland. Horace says they would come in handy—like the monkeys in Gibraltar, to defend the land; and swallow up the Britons or Tories. (We can imagine what dreadful snake-stories that jolly dog Mylatrius must have related at the inn in Brundusium.)

The 13th stanza is of the very greatest importance, since it explains the origin and uses of the Round Towers of Ireland. These mysterious structures were nothing else but immense punch-bowls used by a race of giants now extinct, "Igne succenso" indicates that these Titans "liked it hot", and it is most probable that the liquor was drunk flaming, more or less in the style in which a punch is served up in the Café de la Paix on the Boulevard or an omelette au Rum in a restaurant. This, of course, explains the tradition that the towers were used by the fire-worshippers.

The frequent recurrence of the word "hic" in the original shews that Horace and Mylatrius drank very hard during their stay at Brundusium. But who was this jolly dog Mylatrius? This question has yet to be settled. "En fin," here is the translation.

Ye Muses who smile on the poet sans guile
And rejoice in just supplication,
On me breathe your fire, ere I take up the lyre
To sing with divine inspiration.

No poet so bold, not even Sappho of old
Ever sang of a subject like mine.
Let ages unroll the long-dust-covered scroll,
And the truth of past centuries shine!

Though many a brave, now forgot in the grave,
Has a claim on my thoughts and my verse,
This ode I'll indite to the courage and might
Of which Erin has long been the nurse.

Dark Tethys displays on her watery stays
A flower of a beauty most rare;
And sailors delight, when the isle meets their sight,
And forget all their troubles and care.

The billows that roar milder grow round this shore
And caressingly play with its sand.
The tempests subside and the murmuring tide
Plaintive breathes its soft sighs to the land.

Wealth's luxurious train Erin's race doth disdain,
Nor to fashion her sons have e'er bent;
From hardship or toil they would never recoil,
And their only misfortune's the rent!

And there all the lads are as good as their dads,
And they bow to the wisdom of years,
War is but a name, and they seek not for fame
On the field drenched with blood and with tears.

Th' invaders' proud trod no'er has sullied the sod,
But alone on the breast of the deep,
Erin reposes mid perfume of roses,
While peace lovingly smiles on her sleep.

Juverna! beware of alliance or snare,
And the hand of the Briton decline,
Tethys! thy glory forbid that the Tory
Should on Erin's white bosom recline!

Should th' enemy land on thy unsullied strand,
E'en the snakes from thy marshes would start.
Sweep down on the foe, and your hisses, I trow,
Will a feeling of terror impart!

Mylatrius, my joy, you're the broth of a boy,
And may your shadow never grow less
Remain by my side and we'll pass the nightide
O'er tales of your ancestors' prowess!

I'm fond of a joke whether written or spoke
And I confess you do make me roar,
But as regards thirst, I proclaim you stand first
For you're constantly asking for more.

Your sires, I ween, had a thirst just as keen,
They were giants—you told me last night—
The towers they built with hot nectar were filled,
Which they quaffed by the moon's silver light.

Mylatrius, thy home shall henceforward be Rome,
For thy story Mœcenas must hear,
And from the forum, with Roman decorum
We will give for old Erin a cheer.

THE ENGLISH ABYSSINIAN CAMPAIGN.

The following sketch is merely intended as an introduction to the intelligent study of the English and Italian campaigns in Abyssinia. The striking contrast between the results obtained by the two expeditions is incomprehensible to all except the initiated. At the moment of writing, not having the works of reference to hand, the figures given are only approximately correct. But the bulk of the information in this article was obtained from both Abyssinians and English who took part in these stirring scenes.

In order to fully understand the question it is necessary to revert to past events. In many respects the history of Abyssinia presents a striking similarity to that of Scotland. In both countries the character of the feudal chiefs and the wild, turbulent nobles made the establishment of a strong central government a difficult problem for their rulers. As a consequence civil wars and revolutions were common. About the middle of the present century the occupant of the throne of Abyssinia was a weakling, in every way unfitted to be the ruler of such a people. Such intervals in the history of nations usually present the opportunity for a master mind to assert itself. This case proved to be no exception to the rule. The adventurous son of a Kousso vendor in Gondar, who had gained an ascendancy over a small following, assumed the reins of power, and by the exercise of an iron will, succeeded in restoring something like order. For the first time a regular army of paid soldiery was substituted for the armed retainers of the feudal chiefs. Foreigners were encouraged to settle in the country, and the British Consul, Mr Plowden, was an intimate friend of the King. For a time all went well, and Theodore was regarded as being one of the wisest rulers Abyssinia had ever seen. Certain circumstances transpired, however, which altered this happy aspect of affairs. First the Queen was taken ill and died. This sorrowful event cast a gloom over the mind of the King. Then his friend Mr. Plowden was killed by some rebels. These successive misfortunes seemed to be more than his mind could endure, and like many another, under such conditions, he gave way to the vice of intemperance. He then soon developed a craze for the wildest excesses, and during these debauches was often guilty of the most horrible cruelty. These eccentricities culminated in the imprisonment of the European missionaries, the English Consular officials and a host of others. Negotiations for their release having failed, the English Government decided to send a military expedition for their protection. Then for the first time King Theodore seemed to realise his position, and something like his old energy returned to him. His tyranny had turned all his people against him, and the only men upon whom he could rely were a handful of his old soldiers. With these he made his way to the country of the Wollo Gallas in the heart of Abyssinia, taking the captive Europeans with him. He then selected a natural stronghold for his encampment, which we, in corrupting the words "Amba Galla" (Galla Fort), have named Magdala. The English expedition was organised and commanded by men of experience. Gen. Napier and most of his staff had seen a good deal of hard service in India and elsewhere, and so were competent to work out the details of such an expedition in a fairly practical manner. Something like seven thousand mules were brought from India, Beyrout and the Levant for transport purposes. All provisions, ammunition, etc., was carefully arranged in packages of suitable size for conveyance in this manner, and all other arrangements were made accordingly. Owing to the friendliness of the Abyssinian peasantry, only a comparatively small force was required to keep up the communications between the fighting column and its base. Napier had something like 10,000 men under his command, many of them veteran troops. Yet with all these advantages and having the populace in his favour, such were the natural difficulties of the country that had the British forces been detained another week before Magdala, his transport arrangements would have broken down under the strain and they would have been compelled to beat a retreat without firing a shot. Fortunately, Theodore was so indignant at his challenge to General Napier to settle the affair by single combat being rejected, that he threw away every advantage and assumed the offensive with the few men who had remained faithful to him. The result was that he was hopelessly beaten, and so Magdala fell into the hands of the English. Theodore sooner than yield himself a prisoner, placed a loaded pistol to his head and blew his brains out. Such was the end of the Magdala affair. The whole thing was little more than a huge military exploring expedition, the peasantry to a man being friendly to the British. Like all similar expeditions, almost everything hinged on the transport and commissariat departments. Theodore's son, who was taken to England to be educated, died of lung disease, and Kassai or Yohannes of Tigre rose to the supreme power in Northern Abyssinia, while Menelik, who, as a mere boy, had been detained as a prisoner by Theodore, gradually extended the boundaries of Shoa till it included most of the Galla countries in the South. Shoa has always been the most civilised part of Abyssinia. Of late years progress and centralisation of Government has been rapid. In conclusion, I might say that the undue sensitiveness and imperfect knowledge of English of my critic Italian Subscriber has led him to miscontrue very plain statements, and to see uncomplimentary references to the Italian nation where none existed. My sympathies are with the Abyssinians because they are defending their native land. If they were invading Italy my sympathies would be reversed. The charge of duplicity—reiterated by the anti-Africanista party in Italy at the present time—was not made at random. It is well known in Abyssinia that Ras Makunen "believed" himself a prisoner in Italy, although his chains might have been gilded and varnished with champaign. For this reason Menelik assented to a treaty, which he openly stated would not be worth the paper it was written on, once his favourite nephew and adopted son had safely returned. To make the intention more evident, a large sum of money was lent to Abyssinia by an Italian bank, under a Government guarantee. On his return, Ras Makunen never rested until every penny of this money was refunded, in order that Italy might have no valid right to base her claim to a protectorate. As I said before, the Italian nation knew nothing of this, some half-a-dozen clever diplomatists being only responsible.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

We congratulate Mr. Adams, engineer of the Western Railway, on the rapidity with which the works of the new station of the Once are being pushed ahead. The station will probably be ready in four months.

Mr. McGeorge, of the Central Cordoba Railway, whose death from typhoid fever we reported the other day, had been eight years in the service of the company, and was highly esteemed by the manager and his fellow employees.

During the absence of the Manager, who has left on a short vacation to Europe, Mr. Robert Wingate, the resident engineer, will manage the Central Uruguay Railway.

ST. PATRICK'S BANQUET.

More select than numerous, less boisterous than sedate, there was still learning and intelligence enough around the gay and festive board, backed by native wit and foreign wine to keep things pretty lively from start to finish. Indeed conversation never lagged an instant, the sharp assault and no less brilliant repartee flying about like mosquitos on the war trail, in perfect harmony and good fellowship, long before that grand eye-opener of the human brain—champagne—made its artillery-like appearance on the scene of action.

Indeed in this important particular the success of the evening could not possibly be more pronounced, and did I not myself form part of the committee, at least a column or two would now be spent on well-merited compliments to that active, that honourable, that most worthy, but horribly abused corporation of self-sacrificing men. (Bravo, old man, go it again).

Some gaps being noted at the table, it was observed that seats had been reserved for the following gentlemen:—

Mr. E. T. Muihall, Dean of the Argentine press.

Mr. Edward Healy, the Bolsa King, absent at Mar del Plata.

Mr. Edward Tormey, Lord Mayor of Capilla del Señor.

As also Messrs. James Carthy (Navarro), John Harrington (Arrecifes), John Duggan (San Antonio), Morgan (Giles), Frank Rath (San Pedro), and a few others of the "old brigade," who gave to the nation its grandest staple—wool. All good men and true, but prevented from attending by some weighty reason or other.

Immense credit is due to Messrs. David Suffern, Patrick Ham and Professor Thomas F. Murphy, for the energy and talent displayed by them individually and collectively during the week's canvass. But for their tact and savoir faire the movement must certainly have failed at the start. Everyone threw cold water on the affair, as though it was a Carnival scramble instead of an intellectual feast that was proposed to be given. But energy and determination will accomplish anything in a good cause.

The banquet table set in horseshoe form was beautifully decorated. The national colours, as may be supposed, reigning supreme. In the centre was the harp of old Ireland lovingly intertwined with the glorious blue and white whilst the banners of all the chief nations of the earth draped the walls in admirable order and good taste. The "menu" got up in George Mercer's best style was more calculated to create an appetite than to alloy one. Neverlheless, strange as it may appear, there was no complaint.

On the opening of the campaign the toasts opened at the request of the chairman with—"The land we live in," admirably well proposed by Mr. Wm. Bulfin, the talented editor of The Southern Cross. The reply from the chair by Dr. O'Farrell was equally good and well may the Argentine nation be congratulated on having elected this gentleman to Congress if he but possess the same knowledge of English law that he does of our literature for it was difficult at times to believe that our chairman was born and educated in a foreign land, never having even seen the shores of that great progressive nation whose language he possesses so fluently and whose best qualities form the ground work of his character.

Mr. Suffern gave us, "Ireland a nation," in powerful but well measured terms, being careful to quote English authors only; there was much to shock, but nothing to offend any honest minded Cockney. Professor Murphy's reply was severe but not rude nor exaggerated.

"The Irish in the River Plate" proposed by Mr. James Murray was reponded to by Mr. F. H. Mulhall who having dwelt at length on the suffering and triumph of the early settlers exhorted his audience to unity amongst themselves and their kindred beyond St. George's channel for it must not be forgotten that Gladstone's best backers in his "Great Home Rule" campaign were from Scotland and Wales. And did not Protestants and Presbiterians vie nobly with us in feeding and clothing the poor "in Ireland." In conclusion he called on every one to back the Government, in colonising the rich lands in and around Lake Fontana gold mines, theus securing for themselves solid fortune at little or no risk. Having alluded to the disgraceful electioneering brawls often witnessed at the very portals of our churches, your correspondent's speech suffered ac interruption, and the chariman settled matters by calling on Mr. Moody to propose the Press of the River Plate responded to by Mr. Bulfin, who concluded by proposing that a subscription be raised to defray a monument to Father Fahey. Dr. Miguel O'Farrel proposed the "Army and Navy to which general Donovan replied in eloquent terms.

Great praise is due to Mr. Moody for the admirable manner in which he expressed his theories on the free press at a moment's notice, as likewise to General Donovan for having secured, free of all charge, the services of the police band. Mr. Lowenstein also addressed the meeting in the most complimentary terms and was loudly applauded. Mr. Edward Byrne expressed a hope that the meeting might be repeated yearly. Cheers.

Mr. Cochrane sang a couple of good songs and Mr. Feeny declaimed in admirable style, thus bringing a pleasant evening to a happy conclusion at 11.30 p.m.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

St. Patrick's Day passed of nicely at morning, noon and night. The ceremonies in the church of the Passionist Fathers were so largely attended that the sacred edifice was filled. "Drowning" of shamrocks was the order of the day, but the job was to get the shamrocks; there was no difficulty about the liquid to drown them in. It being Lent, our cellar was hermetically closed, in spite of the remarks of some subscriber visitors about "undue sobriety" on such a jovial anniversary. We noticed a great number of green cravats on Irish masculine necks, whilst the ladies flew Erin's colour with profusion on their hats and dresses. The banquet at George Mercer's was a grand and successful affair, and the ball given at night in the hospitable mansion of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Murphy at Almagro was a most enjoyable wind-up to the great Irish Festival.

The Gold Eagle celebrated St. Patrick's day with a soar and a scream that made the welkin ring. The news from Chile made him frisky, as the cat is now out of the Moneda bag, and it appears that Mr. Morla Vicuña, about whose interviews with Dr. Alcorta so much fuss was made, had no definite instructions whatever, so all his talk amounted to nothing. The tone of the Chilian papers was again rather bellicose, and the "highest peaks" boundary line is declared out of the question. The voice of Italy is still for war, and we're sorry to hear it, as another defeat will mean blue ruin. The news of the day was from London. The portly British Premier has "fumado" the amateur statesmen of France. The Dongola expedition to help Italy is part of an agreement with Germany and Austria in return for their consent to England's remaining in Egypt for ever. To-day's Paris papers will be lively reading, to say nothing of our Gallic colleagues here.

It seems that Mr. Adolfo Eastman is the democratic candidate for the Presidency of Chile. The family of Eastman in Buenos Aires is so well known in this city, as connected by marriage with most of the leading Argentine families, that it is not surprising we should all here take a deep interest in the election of Mr. Eastman, who, if not an Argentine, is certainly the next thing to it. Fifty years ago the largest druggists in this city were the Eastmans, whose well-known drug store in Calle Defensa was a sort of Club-House for English speaking foreigners, and of late years one of our most popular Bolsa brokers was the late Don Ricardo Eastman. We all hope, therefore, to see the democratic party in Chile with Mr. Eastman at its head win the day, as his election means peace with Chile; and it looks now, if some radical change does not take place in the public men of both countries, we shall have this Chilian War Question pending for the next ten years. The war scare has, however, done this country immense good, it has woke up the Government, the Army, the Navy and the people, and but for the alarm we should have all our warships rotting in the Tigre.

If any of our readers has had the misfortune to have suffered at the hands of the pseudo gas or telephone employee Edward Perez, an opportunity will to-day be afforded him or her to examine a portion of his spoils in the court of Police Magistrate Dr. Navarro.

The police yesterday succeeded in capturing the two "atorrantes" who recently stole a bronze statue from the house of Mr. Blanco, Alsina, 1455, which they had entered under the guise of beggars. The announcements of such thefts appear too trivial to record but they at any rate serve to put the public on their guard against the tricks habitually practised in the city and suburbs.

The lovely church of the Passionists at Holy Cross was filled to overflowing yesterday in celebration of St. Patrick's and many estancieros came from all parts of the camp to attend at the sacred ceremony. Father Isidoro from the monastery at Arroyo Luna preached the penegyric which was listened to with the utmost attention and devotion. The services concluded at 1 p.m., Father Eugene the worthy rector inviting the faithful to preserve in tact the virtues of the great Irish race.

A detective officer yesterday ran to earth the two men who, on the day Dr. Beazley assumed charge of the Police, offered if they were paid $1000 gold to reveal to him the identity of certain forgers of paper money. It is quite possible the men really acted in good faith, if one may say so, as honour among thieves is more spoken of than practised.

A boy named Costa, lassoed yesterday a calf on horse back in Las Flores; but becoming entangled in the lasso he was torn off his horse and dragged a distance of 5 squares. When taken up he was already dead.

The manifestation in favour of Italy and the victims of the war in Abyssinia on the 22nd, promises to be very imposing Yesterday several Commissions waited on ex-Presidents Mitre, Roca and Pellegrini, Drs. Bernardo Irigoyen and Dardo Rocha, Alem, Manuel Quintana, Fidel Lopez and other personages to ask them to head the procession, which they probably will. It will be a grand affair.

A very interesting lecture, entitled "The Physical basis of Sound" was delivered last night, in the Lecture Hall of the American Church, by Prof. H. G. Wellby. The professor showed himself a complete master of the subject, and by many simple, but interesting experiments, explained the method of producing sound, and showed very clearly the result of regular and irregular vibration. The object for which the lecture was given, was to provide an electric motor for the organ of the church, but the fund will not be increased very much, as the audience was a very poor one, and not worthy of the excellence of the lecture.

We are asked to remind the ladies and gentlemen taking part in the cantata "The ten virgins", that the usual practice will take place to-night at 352 Calle Peru, at half past eight.

We return our best thanks to our jolly colleague the Diario for its very friendly salute to St. Patrick's Day, and to the Irish colony in the Plate: Lainez himself, who is the editor and proprietor of the Diario, is of Irish descent, his original name being Lyons. Corresponding with the kindly feelings of our colleague we sent him a shamrock which we got in Palermo Park, right in front of the Naval School, with instructions as to the established custom of drowning it before he went to bed last night. And it may interest Mr. Lainez and many other Hiberno-Argentines to know that the shamrock is spreading all over Palermo Park with a rapidity which has attracted the notice of Colonel Guerrico, the Chief of the Naval School, and also has astonished the head gardener of the Park, who wonders where on earth the little stranger which he calls "trevol Irlandes" has come from. The extraordinary rapid growth of the shamrock in Palermo Park we hail as a good sign for the country, as the shamrock has influences which even Mr. Balfour, in the House of Commons last year respects and considers desirable to cultivate. It may be a pleasant refresher for our friend Lainez to tell him that yesterday, 82 years ago, an Irishman took Martin Garcia against tremendous odds, gloriously defeated the enemies of this country, and handed over the Island to the Argentines, who have ever since held that Gibraltarian Island. Hats off, Mr. Lainez, to our valiant countryman Admiral Brown, who won for the Argentines one of the greatest victories on St. Patrick's Day, 1814. Every Argentine, big or small, may well afford to wear a shamrock in his hat on St. Patrick's Day, if not in honour of the Saint at least in memory of that glorious victory, and we call Mr. Lainez's attention to the remarkable fact, that since the shamrock has taken root in Palermo within the last two years, everything has begun to improve in this country. Thirty-three years have now gone by since the editors of this paper organised a St. Patrick's banquet in the Hotel Provence, and on that memorable occasion there was not a shamrock to be found in the whole country. Our senior editor, with the late Mr. Mahon of the Beach, spent a whole day looking for something like a shamrock, and they brought up from these grassy mounds on the beach a lot of sprigs of trefoil which Mr. Santa Maria, the then British Consul, Mr. Rom, the then Manager of the Bolsa, and Dr. Sheridan pinned on to the coat of each guest entering the room. How things have changed since then in this country may be gathered from the marvellous spread of the shamrock in Palermo Park.

THE DEAR LITTLE SHAMROCK.

There's a dear little plant that grows in our Isle,
'Twas St. Patrick himself sure that set it,
And the sun on his labour with pleasure did smile,
And with dew from his eye often wet it.
It shines thro' the bog, thro' the brake, and the mire land,
And he called it the dear little shamrock of Ireland.

That dear little plant still grows in our land,
Fresh and fair as the daughters of Erin,
Whose smiles can bewitch, and whose eyes can command
In each climate they ever appear in.

That dear little plant that springs from our soil,
When its three little leaves are extended,
Denotes from one stem we together should toil,
And ourselves by ourselves be befriended.

Now, readers classical, constant and general, look for the long lost ode to Ireland in another column. This priceless treasure, hidden for so many centuries through the manipulation of a cowled copyist, was discovered by a member of our staff, in the belfry tower of Notre Dame in Paris, behind the very stone which suggested to Victor Hugo that wonderful romance "Notre Dame". The ode proves the antiquity of Hibernian grandeur and explains the hitherto mysterious origin of the Round Towers. We should feel much obliged to any classical subscriber who would throw light on that jolly dog Mylatrius. We find nothing about him in Lempriére, but he was evidently a boon companion of the jovial Flaccus.

The yellow fever news from Rio yesterday was very bad, 150 fresh cases and 60 deaths! March and April are always the worst months for this terrible scourge.

We had the pleasure of a visit yesterday from Mr. Baker, the highly popular Consul of the United States, who flew the Stars and Stripes over his Consulate all day in honour of old Ireland. He told us that, as the Big Republic has not even one Saint of its own to pray for it, it has adopted St. Patrick, as he was such a splendid hand at telling "snake" stories.

We have to thank our friend Mr. Killey for his great attention in lending us Captain Hozier's British Expedition to Abyssinia published in 1869, a most interesting book and supplying us with beautiful descriptions of Adigrat, Aulalo, Kassala, Magdala and other important places in Abyssinia. We hold for publication some interesting extracts from this excellent book.

The Hurlingham Club has compiled a very attractive programme for Lady-day, March 25th. There are no fewer than 8 events of which two are matches. Entries close on Thursday, March 19th at 559 Piedad at 5.30 p.m.

Our good friend Mr. Hermann Röpe is preparing a lecture upon his travels and experiences all over the world. It will be illustrated by lime-light pictures and will be given for the benefit of the Irish Orphanage and kindred institutions. Mr. Röpe requires the assistance of a few gentlemen who will take the management, the lamp, and such like matters in hand. Those willing to assist him will please communicate with him, Casilla de Correo 842.

In reference to our remarks yesterday about stone-throwing by young scamps on passing trains at passengers waiting at Palermo station, the Company has informed us that it was all the fault of the police, as, although there was a "cabo" put on the train expressly to watch, he did nothing but look on. The Company brought the matter before the Chief of Police yesterday, and we feel certain Mr. Beazley will effectually prevent any recurrence of the outrage.

There was a tremendous snag-up in Grafton Street yesterday at 4 p.m., caused by the fall of a cart horse. It took as much time, cursing, shouting, gesticulating, and general confusion to get that horse on his legs as if it were the King of Siam's White Elephant.

A pretty story is told in the "London American" of Mrs. William Astor, of New York. A country house lady's maid, a poor, overworked thing, was detailed to aid Mrs. Astor in dressing for dinner. Awaiting the lady's arrival in the bedroom, sheer exhaustion overcame watchfulness, and down among the divan pillows the girl fell asleep. A glance at the pale face was enough for the kindly lady, who quietly made herself ready, turned the gas low, left a consoling tip in the sleeper's hand, went softly out of the room, and it was only by way of the servants' hall that the incident over came to light. It is not surprising to read that only sudden death or equally implacable matrimony has ever robbed this lady of her maids. No tiring woman over waited up for her until after eleven o'clock, nor suffered rebukes for any passing whim.

When presenting his credentials the other day at Asuncion to President Egusquiza, the new Brazilian Minister, Dr. Da Cunha, made a specially effusive speech, and the President followed suit in the same strain, alluding pointedly to the necessity of "scrupulous international respect for the principles of right and justice." We presume this little hint was meant for our Chilian friends, who are not exactly remarkable for the virtue alluded to by the President.

The cruiser Garibaldi won't leave Italy for these shores till the beginning of May. Captain Martin Rivadavia will be her commander. On the 22nd inst. Alferez Iglesia will sail for Genoa with part of the crew, 50 able seamen, 30 Marines, 2 officers, a surgeon and a paymaster.

We say "au revoir" and a pleasant voyage to Dr. Garcia Merou, the new Argentine Minister in Washington, who leaves to-day in the German steamer Mark en route, via England, to the United States. Dr. Merou is one of the rising members of the Argentine diplomatic corps, and the right man in the right place near our tall Uncle Sam.

Another pious and valuable offering has been made for the Basilica at Lujan by Mr. Santa Marina, in the shape of a quantity of marble from his quarries at Tandil, to decorate the new church.

Asked what he found most helpful in his work, Mark Twain replied "Tobacco," picking up a capacious briar-root pipe which was kept busily engaged as he paced up and down the room enveloped in a thick cloud of smoke. "I always smoke when at work—I could'nt do without it; I smoke by necessity. I did stop smoking once for a year and a quarter, but in that year and a quarter I didn't write anything.

The Lord Mayor and the Gas Company managers, after a long palaver at which the calumet of peace was smoked and the "mate" cup passed round, have settled their quarrel about the price of gas, which will be 20 cents this month, and afterwards be regulated by the price of gold.

Yesterday's telegrams show that the Democrats in the United States intend to run Cleveland for the Presidency again. Even the Republicans, although they intend to run Morton, Governor of New York, admit that he is n't a patch on Cleveland. The currency and financial questions have to be settled, and both sides admit that Cleveland is the only man in the country able to deal with them properly.

The Czar of Russia is now in exactly the same scrape as Emperor William got himself into with England by sending the famous telegram to Uncle Paul Kruger. He has sent the Grand Cross of St George to Negus Menelik, and not only the Italians are furious, but Emperor William has taken sore offence, and intends to ask the Czar for an explanation of this slight to his Triple Alliance friend, Italy. If he do, the fat will be in the fire, as the young Czar must have taken the step with the advice of the veteran and astute statesmen who have steered Russian politics so very successfully since the late Czar's death. To make the imbroglio worse, subscriptions are being raised in Russia for the wounded Abyssinians. In fact, it is as clear as day now that the descendant of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba is going to play a very big role indeed in the coming events of the world. The next thing may be his joining formally the Russo-French alliance.

Next week will see another fashionable wedding at Green Lomas, on Tuesday, 24th, when, Mr. Peter Henry Vargas will lead to the altar of Hymen the charming Miss Pauline Claire Mackern. We offer our warmest congratulations and best wishes.

The Kermesse at Montevideo beats the record in the way of a Bazaar success. The stunning number of 100,000 Cedulas have been sold for $10,000, and there is still a big supply and lots of prizes to be won, especially by the "bad luck" Cedulas. To-morrow night there will be most original Tableaux Vivants, representing all the newspapers in Montevideo.

There are many excellent stories in Howard Paul's "Dinners with celebrities," just published in shilling form by Newton and Eskell, Chancery lane, London, and we suppose the E. B. E. has it. Here is one —Sir Michael Costa, being at Naples, wishing to pay Rossini attention, sent him a box of fine macaroni and the score of his (Costa's) oratorio of "Eli," as he was anxious to receive the opinion of the great composer on the work. A month elapsed when Costa received a brief note from Rossini to the following effect:— "My dear Costa—thanks for the oratorio and the macaroni. The latter was excellent.—G. Rossini."

Mothers of growing girls, be warned, and do not subject your daughters to too much of that torture, practising the piano. Doctor Waesold, of the Medical Academy of Paris, has just addressed a report to that body in which he attributes the clorosis and neurosis so prevalent now amongst young girls to excessive practice on the piano. The eminent physician says it is simply "odious" to put a girl at the piano until she is 15 or 16, and not even then unless she is strong and has a decided taste for it. Dr. Waesold says that of every 1000 girls put to the piano at 12 years of age, 600 get almost incurable nervous diseases before they are full grown. He says that the new fad of teaching girls the violin is even still more disastrous for their health.

The last number of Buenos Aires is simply delightful. The frontispiece, "en el Club Español" is a charming picture. Then there several views of the interior of the Club and portraits of its President and Committee. Several charming phototypes of the White Picnic at Lomas are admirably done. There is also a portrait of the rising tenor Constantine, who has made such a sensation as Lazaro, in "Dolores," and who is destined, several of our first musicians say, to be a second Gayarre. Like the great baritone of forty years ago, Graziani, he has been taken from the plough, and as yet barely knows a note of music, singing from ear; but his voice is divine.

Amongst the judicial announcements of approaching marriages at Montevideo we note that of Mr. Stevenson Miller to Miss Augustina Bado, and of Mr. George Brown to Miss Josefa Andrés.

"Tears, sighs and groans" are a queer way of showing appreciation of good music, and they are never seen or heard in this most musical country. Our fair Northern cousins are different. An American lady who interviewed Pederewski says that he told her his private railway carriage was fitted up like a home, with a piano and every comfort and convenience. He and his manager, Mr. Goerlitz, have their own set of servants on the car, and the name of it is Hazlemere. His tour is a highly successful one. The audiences are chiefly composed of ladies, who "feel a peculiar susceptibility to his music, and, exhibit it in tears, sighs, and even groans." Their floral offerings to the eminent pianist are magnificent.

Consumption is lamentably prevalent in this country, and the following paragraph about the precautions that are taken with the heir to the throne of Russia may be of use to sufferers from the same terrible complaint:—"The Czarewitch continues to gain strength on the Riviera. Extraordinary care is taken to prevent particles of woollen dust from irritating his throat. There is not a blanket, carpet, nor a curtain in his house. The bed covers are quilted and of eider down, his coats have no nap, and he wears an overcoat of linen. Every kind of knitted wrap is excluded from the house. The floors are waxed daily, and the rooms he sits and sleeps in are often swept by a strong draught."

Old Mother Earth has evidently a pain in her anatomy in the vicinity of Chile. The captain of the British barque Vincent, which arrived at Valparaiso on Sunday, when off Juan Fernandez island felt a sudden shock, as if the vessel had struck something under the water, but the lead showed deep water, the ship was uninjured, and the captain immediately came to the conclusion that it was an earthquake, which was confirmed when he reached port.

FIRST RING 214.80%
SECOND RING..... 216.00%

The current has changed, or not so much changed, perhaps, as settled down determinedly for a rise, and even the bears now have pulled down their flag, reversed their colonrs and arranged their plan of campaign for a stiffening market. It is evidently quite clear, therefore, that so far as the fall is concerned we have seen bottom. Whether it be the Chilian question or other items in the transandine and transcendental category, the fact remains that the bears have got their quietus. They have pocketed their gains and slinked quietly out of the speculation, leaving the market at the mercy of the new feeling which makes out gold apparently cheap at any price, 316.50 for end of March and 320.50 for end of April. Such brilliant contango alone would upset an army of bears; nearly two points for end of month and almost double that for end of next month. Such differences must put every dollar available into gold, as it is a splendid business without risk—buying for cash and selling on time with the gold as security on a rising market. No wonder the bears abandoned their prey, frightened off by the prospects before them. Both bulls and bears are, therefore, now in the same groove, and though it will not suit either to "rush" matters, the outlook is fixedly bullish.

The total of gold disposed of at the first ring was a little over a million dollars. In cash business alone 313,600 changed hands, starting with a feeler at 313.50, but this being considered high prices, fell to 312.50, fluctuating for some time between this rate and 314, hardening up at the close, when gold ran scarce, to 315 and closing 20 cents lower. Both for end of month and end of April business was also brisk at a difference on cash rates of say 2 to 4 points respectively, and everything offering was snapped up. In stocks nothing was doing of note, a few Cedulas, Catalinas at 4.80 and a small lot of French Bank at 45 being the whole business.

$ 313,600 for cash at 313.50-313-312.50-70-50-313-313.30-20--313-312--80-313-313.50--314--314.30-50-315-314.50-80-50-80.

The bullish feeling lasted out the day; in fact it got even more pronounced as the hours ran out, the intense firmness astonishing even the bulls themselves, whilst the bears, the few that were left, wondered and pondered and asked themselves what was up? "The Chilian question," they said, "has not developed any new phases. The fever scare is dead and buried—a circumstance—an episode, and not a perturbing factor from a speculative point of view." But whilst they pondered and wondered the quotations kept creeping up. The bulls on the other hand, chuckling with delight over the firm hold they now have on the market, spoke in an insinuating way of the Government's needs, a drop in exchange, recrudescence of the fever in Rio, unequivocally bumptious tone of the Chilian Press on the limits question, and whatever else suggested itself in this regard. The bears contended that this was all ancient history. and probably the secret, if it can be called so, of the violence of the rise can be safely ascribed to the turn in the speculation which has swept the bears off their legs and carried most of them over to the bullish ranks.

The gold market at the second hour was as stiff as a post. Business for tomorrow was not over brisk, but it was more for lack of sellers than buyers, and the contango deepened, runing to 2 points clear for end of month, in spite of heavy sales of one broker who still sticks to his flag—the last of the Mohicans. The bulk of business was for Saturday and end of month. For latter date 353,000 dollars, a big proportion of the total dealt in, changed hands, opening at 317, fluctuating between this rate and 318¼, to close at 318. After the hour there was no relaxation. Gold was quoted very firm, both for cash and dates. Business in stocks slack.

The following is a summary of the operations effected to-day at the second ring:—

The line to which Mr. Benitez alluded in his remarks about the Villegas camp, which we published in a recent issue, namely the extension of the Western General Pinto—Villegas is being pushed ahead rapidly and being very easy of construction is expected to be finished by end of September. This is good news for the people of the district, who will begin to feel in touch with the world when they have the iron horse in their midst.

Affairs in the exchange market were dull enough, but there was a shade of firmness in the situation. Small amounts were passed at 5.08¼—5.09 fcs. on Belgium.

4.12 marks on Germany.

The money market shows no symptoms of relaxing. The demand for money is strong and the "pase" on Change is a bait to holders of paper. At the banks paper bills were quoted at 8½% to 9%. Gold bills were nominal.

Telegrams from Rio de Janeiro announced another slump in exchange owing to the threatening news from Rio Grande do Sul where another revolution is brewing. The rate on London to-day fell to 8 13/16d.

There is some inquiry for Quilmes Beer Company shares, and we learn from a leading broker that these shares are for the most part held in Europe; their par value is five thousand francs and they can't be bought here for ten thousand francs, which has been freely offered for them. This shows what a splendid enterprize this Quilmes beer factory has proved. It ranks second only to the Liebig Fray Bentos Company.

Respecting the Ferro Carriles Pobladores shares, for which there has been some enquiry within the last few days, we hear that the last quotation was 18, but few holders are willing to sell at that low figure.

The Mercado Central de Frutos shares have taken a sudden jump up and are not to be bought at last quotation, which we hear was 22. These shares in the opinion of many, are the very best buying in this market at their present price. We stood at the ring not very long ago when they were knocked down at auction at $5 paper per share.

Mr. Schneidewind was welcomed on his return from Entre Rios, where he concluded the delivery of that most unfortunate of all Argentine railways, the Primer Entre Riano. It now belongs to the English Company that owns all the Entre Rios railways, and in their hands may yet prove a paying concern.

We again congratulate our friend Mr. Moreno on the magnificent dividend declared by his Insurance Company, The America, 20 per cent, which speaks for Mr Moreno's very able management. All Mr. Moreno's companies flourish, his name is a guarantee to shareholders of splendid dividends.

The cases of carbuncle reported at Bavio turn out to be very serious. The veterinary college has examined the blood of the animals and found the microbe to be the real Simon Pure, and this unpleasant discovery is heightened by later reports which announce the contagion spreading. Estancieros may well feel alarmed. In England of course they might, if they pleased, which they do not, laugh at the disease, as the herds are well under control and the danger of the taint spreading minimised, but here where the herds are enormous and semi-wild there is the ghastly prospect of a general epidemic if the disease once gets a foothold. This is so palpable that the authorities must grasp its significance at a glance; and above all should they shew rigorous inflexibility with those who try to conceal the presence of the plague in their cattle and thus help its propagation. Naturally the estancieros should realize the danger of such a course themselves, but as happened with those already denounced those in charge of the cattle may be either unaware of the danger of reckless of its consequences, and the Government is absolutely responsible for seeing that the estancieros enjoin on their capataces and peons the necessity of denouncing the first symptoms of any suspicious ailment. Fortunately, up to the present the only cases reported are in almost immediate vicinity of La Plata. It is to be hoped that the zone will be isolated, and the contagion kept from spreading.

Mr. Patrick Adrien, son of Dr. Adrien of Ballriggan, was welcomed to-day on his arrival from the celebrated Bunge estancia in Gualeguaychu. He reports the camp in fine condition after the recent rain, which was much needed. The cattle are all fat.

Circulars were handed round to-day announcing that Mr. S. Rix has resumed business at Cangallo 338.

A big failure is reported from over the river. Messrs. Mauri Brothers and Co., millers, with important business relations with this market, have filed the petition of bankruptcy themselves.

The National Mortgage Bank holds a drawing of Cedulas to-morrow, being about to withdraw 300,000 A from circulation. This is a return to the early eighties when its colleague, now struggling in the debris of its own collapse, used to hold the drawings regularly. It will never, unfortunately, do so again; at least things do not look just like it at present. The series above referred to is the paper one.

Advices from Rio report that market so glutted with jerked beef that they say there a slight moderation in shipments is absolutely necessary to give them breathing time. The deposits are all full, and if arrivals keep up there will be no storage room. Then to make matters worse, buyers are reluctant about engagements, the railway facilities are the reverse of perfect, and prices are coming down by the run. This will undoubtedly tend to moderate zeal as regards shipments. If it does not, the bottom and its tub will soon part company.

Bragado, though not on a level, from a cereal point of view, with other partidos is by no means in the one-horse category. The total area of the partido is 114 leagues with 18,200 inhabitants. The chacras, as a rule, run to 200 squares. Mr. Garibaldi is one of the biggest farmers. He has no less than 5 leagues under cultivation, supplying his chacareros with everything and liquidating accounts at end of year. The total area of the partido under maize is 30,000 hectares, of which this year 10,000 are lost through sowing late, the remaining 20,000 being calculated to yield 52,000 tons, or say at the rate of about 2½ tons the hectare. The wheat yield is calculated so low that the crop will not go over, if it meets, the local demand; 600 kilos the hectare is all the farmers expect, when the yield in ordinary circumstances should be a 1¼ ton. Last year Bragado turned out 500,000 fanegas, being ahead of 9 de Julio and Chacabuco. With the great facility for transport that the partido offers it is bound to go in very extensively for agriculture, though up to the present the graziers interest has been predominant.

The German pucket Mark leaves tomorrow with a full list of passengers. With so many people leaving by every mail it looks as if the German and English colonies this winter will be very thin. Messrs Lahusen and Lernoud took leave of their many friends on'Change to-day. They leave in the Mark for Fatherland.

We have received the second volume of Don Manuel Chueco's able treatise on The Pioneers of National Industry, which we hold over for Review, owing to its being St. Patrick's Day and other calls on time and space.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs has now made a rule that all Consuls who have a fixed salary must in future pay into the Treasury all the fees they receive.

The Finance Minister has decided to sub-divide Section 21 of the territory of the Republic (to facilitate the collection of Internal Taxes) making four districts of the deparments of San Xavier and Garay in the province of Santa Fé.

In reference to the disputed interpretation of Article 26 of the Customs Law, the Finance Minister has ordered the Consuls only to specify the weight and volume in ths bills of lading in the case of closed packages of general goods ('de hacienda'), and not in the case of casks of wine, drums, paint, iron, etc. the weight and volume of which need only be declared when paying the freight or storage and wharfage dues.

The Finance Minister has refused to exempt from import duty an electric light cable for the Rio de la Plata Electricity Company.

The Finance Minister has ordered payment to Messrs. Portalis Bros., of the price of 21 cases of brandy stolen from the 1st sub-division of Dock 1 in the Madero Port.

The Finance Minister has issued a decree with regulations as to the form of the exemption from Internal Taxes which has been granted to Messrs. Meinvielle and Co. on the tobacco supplied to the army.

Mr. Richard Wendelstadt, the enterprising manager of the Quilmes Brewery, left yesterday on a business trip to Villa Mercedes, San Luis. He expects to be absent about a fortnight. We wish him a pleasant time and countless orders for his famous brew.

The following is a minute table of the branches of the National Mortgage Bank. The table gives us the importance and business of each branch in the different provinces:—

	Current loans	Passive loans
La Plata.....	5,850,150	738,981
Rosario.....	3,807,240	333,250
Santa Fé.....	3,684,710	356,779

	53,189,800	6,490,487

According to this the average comes out as follows:—La Plata 12/6, Rosario 8/7, Santa Fé 9/6, Parana 10/1, Uruguay 9/4, Corrientes 23/1, Córdoba 15/8, Santiago 25/8, Tucuman 2/1, Salta 6/2, Jujuy 4/5, Rioja 28/2, Catamarca 12/5, San Luis 23/3, Mendoza 9/5 and San Juan 11/8.

The Custom-House receipts to-day were:—

	$ paper	$ gold
Imports and exports to-day.....	256,175	35,519

The Minister of Finance has fixed the price of gold for payment of Custom-dues at 316 for Wednesday, March 18th.

SALES AND AUCTIONS.

The Provincial Mortgage Bank cannot even by a stretch of the imagination be styled elastic. Its business is carried on with such awful Secrecy it is only by straining the ingenuity that a guess can be made at what is going on. The establisment is not over fortunate with its foreclosures. But the wonder would be if it were. Leaving aside the question of whether the reserve is in accordance with market values, we know of several estancias where properties have been foreclosed and put up for auction without the owners even being aware of the fact, and this gives rise to untold annoyance and inconvenience, as well as being detrimental to the interests of the bank itself. If the owners are in blissful ignorance, what must the general public be? There is no publicity given to the auctions; they come off simply because the auctioneer has orders to sell and he has to rely for buyers on the few that follow the foreclosure list with care in the hope of picking up a "pichincha", taking care to this end to keep the matter as secret as a conspiracy.

We note by La Plata advices that 4 properties were realized by the bank yesterday, and here are the results, as bare and meagre in detail as they well could be; if the market can form any estimate of value from them it is working a miracle:

2 chacras in Loberia, reserve $2,519 for $4,300, buyer Francisco Gonzalez.

Chacra in Section C. La Plata, reserve $15,278 for $16,965, buyer Juan Cortaborria.

Property in Cuartel 7, Barracas al Sud, reserve $104,400 for $114,200, buyer Juan Mentiguiagua.

It would be much more satisfactory for the bank and the morgagors and the public, three leading factors in this business, if the Government or the board of the Bank, or whosoever has the management of the affair, named Funes and Lagos or Bullrich auctioneers and have the sale brought off here in Buenos Aires marts. The present system is perfectly rotten. It is not even an apology for what it should be, but it is just as likely to remain unchanged as not, as if anybody with a jury mast for a head could not see its manifest disadvantages. The bank, perhaps, does not wish to realize; if so the system is irreprochable.

Messrs. Devoto and Balbiani effected an important business in live stock to-day. They sold for Brazilian market 200 criollo steers at $45 and 400 criollo cows at $28. These prices, considering the class of animal, are very satisfactory.

Messrs. Funes, Lagos and Co. sold to-day the following live-stock from Mr. Marcelo Paz's estancia Los Pinos, Departamento Constitucion in Santa Fé:—

	$ each	Buyers

Mr. F. Constenla offered for sale by order of the National Bank in liquidation 4,610 hectares of camp in Santa Fé, Colonia A. Alsina, four kilometres from Elisa Station on the San Cristobal line, with reserve of 4½ dollars the hectare, but there were no buyers and the sale was abandoned.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Formerly it was the fall in gold: today it's the rise that keeps business back. Instead of heavy operations the greater part of the "interesados" are engaged in trying to find out the reason of the sudden flight of the Gold Eagle. There is always a hitch in the market transactions, and the reasons given are too plausible to discuss. The fact is that the markets are puzzled and do not know what to make of the present rise.

The demand for wheat and maize was slacker than usual. This is rather a hard question to explain, as all are well aware that cereals are stiffly sought for in Europe, putting this fact with the present low freights, one would have thought that exporters would have been more keen. A leading "consignatario" informed us this evening that he had already arranged to sell 3,000 bags of maize from outside at $3, but the sudden rise in the gold premium put a stop to the negotiation, as the owner considered the price too low. Linseed farmers were all in the best of humour to-day. Telegrams from the exterior clearly proved that the cargoes that had arrived were not so bad as depicted.

Sheepskins and cow-hides were quoted at a firmer rate. In the former a rise of 5 cents was noticed, whereas the latter are still only selling at 9.20. The markets for both these articles are striking hard for a rise and should gold still continue on its soaring flight, one may expect to see these products replace others which at present hold sway.

There was a brisker and a brighter feeling in wool circles this morning. French "artistas" walked merrily into the market and picked up several large parcels. If the German "artistas" were to cooperate with the French, we would soon see the enormous stock on hand reduced. Some way or other the rivals do not agree, one says that the other pays too high a price, and does this solely to keep the field to himself. This is rather a lame way to look at the situation, as the markets and deposits are still crammed with various classes of wool.

Amongst this morning's operations we notice that Messrs. Devoto, Balbiani and Co. sold the following in the Central:
25,000 kilos mezclas at 8.60 and 8.90.
15,000 do fine from the West at 8.00.
50,000 do lambs' wool, the cross at 8.50 and 9.00 and the mezclas at 5.00 and 6.00.
12,000 do do from Entre Rios, mezcla, at 7.00.
The total sold amounted to 600,000 kilos. Prices maintained their usual footing, with a slight rise, in fine and cross qualities.

There was a certain relaxation in wheat sales this morning. The superior classes were much sought for, but unluckily these parcels are rather scarce, and the greater part of them falls into the hands of the local millers. The current rates were from 7.79 to 7.60. Telegrams from London report that three shiploads were sold at 25s. 3d. This is a move in the right direction, as for the last 15 days nothing at all has been done in this line. The Antwerp markets have not changed, a little more animation is noticed, but the spurt is more nominal than anything else.

Large sales were made in maize to-day, exporters walked in heavily into transactions. In the Darsena $25,000 bags were sold at 3.30, in the Riachuelo 1,500 bags at 3.25, and 4,000 bags at 3.20, in the Plaza Constitucion 600 bags were sold at 3 dollars.

The topic of the moment is the rise in linseed. The news arrived to-day from Antwerp that several cargoes were sold at 19¼ francs. In our own market some large transactions were made, but prices, etc., were kept strictly private. The Rosario markets do not seem to have heard the latest, as the transactions in linseed are as dull as ever.

Mr. Martin Meyer, the leading hide-broker, reports as follows for the fortnight:—
Sales from 1st to 15th March:—
Dry ox hides for North America—
No sales.
5,000 hides for the North of the Continent—
"Matadero" ox and cow hides; prices nominal.

6,000 classified and "desecho" hides from this province at $3.20 to 2.80 gold.
4,000 Entre Rianos and Correntinos at $2.90 and 3.00 gold.
2,500 Cordobeses and Santafecinos at $2.80 to 3.00 gold.
2,000 unservable at $2.25 gold.
1,500 Paraguayos reshipped at $3 to 3.10 gold.
In stock— 10,000 hides from this province, 6,000 Correntinos and 2,000 Entre Rianos. Total in stock 18,000 hides.
"Saladero" salted ox hides—
7,000 steer hides, 30 kilos, at $19 to 20 gold, In stock 12,000 hides.
"Matadero" salted ox hides—
6,000 hides at reserved price. In stock 6,000 hides.
"Saladero" tallow—
600 pipes and bordalesas at $9¾ gold. No stock.
"Matadero tallow—
500 pipes and bordalesas at reserved price. No stock.
Salted "potro" hides—
7,000 hides, 15 kilos, at $3.30 and 3.40 gold. No stock.
Potro grease—$2.80 to 2.60%.
Jerked beef—No sales.

The saladero "faena" has been as follows during the years 1894, 1895 and 1896:

	1896	1895	1894
Rio Grande.....	75,000	70,000	120,000
Rivers A. Republic.	244,600	269,500	247,300
Rivers B. Oriental..
Buenos Aires.....	131,600	169,800	187,300
Montevideo.....	177,600	234,700	179,000
	628,800	744,000	733,600

Poor Rosario! a change of three cents seems to revive its spirits. Still this slight reaction does not make up for the past sharp relapse. During the morning 6,000 quintals were sold, but after all what is that for a market like Rosario. To top the affair the price, etc., were kept reserved; it was, however, rumoured that the price paid was 7.05. Consignatarios still hold out for 7.15 and 7.25. The rise in gold in Buenos Aires has put a little more spirit into transactions. A superior parcel of 500 quintals sold at 7.25, another lot of 2,500 bags changed hands at 7.29.

Maize looked a little brighter; 1,600 bags of yellow maize were let go at 3.15. Maize circles were evidently content with this operation, as no further business in that line was reported.

A few sales were effected in linseed, but the current amount was so small that no attention can be paid to the prices. The current rates were 9.45 and 9.50, and for inferior 8 and 8.50.

The Montevidean markets show no sign of improvement. Wheat owes its fall to the local millers, who refuse to pay the current prices. Sellers held out today for 2.60 and 2.70, and for superior qualities 2.90. It is some time since the high price of 2.90 has been asked, and an outsider doubts whether exporters or millers will be able to meet the offer. The sales come to about 3,250 bags, the prices ran from 2.50 to 2.70. Maize is still in the back ground; little or no animation is noticed on the part of buyers, in fact exporters seem to have withdrawn from that circle; the "consumo" operates in a very gingerly manner, and only picked up some 800 bags at 95 cents.

A couple of sales were noticed in the saladero line. Messrs. Anaga and Irigoyen sold 2,000 hides of 31.21 kilos at 19.50, and 100 pipes of tallow at 9.15.

Nothing was done in wool; the markets have lost all their former activity, the result being a blank that depresses all interested in the article.

German s.s Lowenburg from Dock 1 for Bremen with produce.
Brit. bq Wolfe from Boca for Barbadoes in ballast.
Swedish bq Margharetta from Barracas for the Channel with produce to orders for Europe.
Norwg. bq Mathilde from Riachuelo for Rosario to load.

RIVER STEAMERS
Eolo and Golondrina arrive to-morrow from Montevideo; the former leaves in the afternoon for same port.

GENERAL.
A decree of the Finance Minister makes the following Supplementary Regulations for the Madero Port:—
A.—Vessels that moor without permisoion from the Mooring Pilot of the Section where they are to discharge shall pay a fine of $50, and will not be allowed to select other moorings, even at their own expense;
B.—The privileged vessels referred to in Article 35, when they have finished discharging, can ba shifted to another place to load, in their turn, and any dispute amongst the captains on this point will involve a fine of $500 irrespective of other responsibilities.
C.—Any captain involved in a breach of Article 124 will be subject to a fine of $100 in addition to the other penalties provided by said Article.
The ss. Mereda which arrived at Montevideo to-day from New York, had to return thither 2 days after she had started in the first instance as her screw had broken.
Mr. N. Mihanovich received this afternoon a telegram from England announcing that the Egleston Abbey, consigned to his firm with coal from Cardiff, had foundered at sea. No details of the disaster have yet been received.
The Newcomen left the roads to-day for Rosario to load grain for Rio. She will fill up here with live-stock.
We were mistaken yesterday in saying that the Homby had continued her voyage to Antwerp after having been in collision with the Mercur. The Homby anchored to-day in the Roads. Both Captains have lodged the corresponding protest before the maritime authorities, each one laying the blame of the disaster on the other.
The Coringa and Senior should tomorrow be granted free pratique, and on Thursday a like favour has been promised to the Tiverton.
The Italian s.s. Amazone which for a long time has been lying in the roads pending the results of a law-suit, will shortly enter the Madero port to be sold by auction.
The Italian bq Riconoscenza to-day left the roads for the Cape of Good Hope with a full cargo of maize and wheat.
The following ss. cleared to-day: Parklands for Dunkirk, Lomas for Liverpool, Mark for Bremen, and the British bq Wolfe for Barbadoes.
To the list of vessels which we yesterday announced were expected in the roads, may be added the Tiempo from Rio. None of them have yet arrived.
The Rowton should to-morrow leave the La Plata port for Antwerp, also the Hydarnes for Liverpool.
Tho Olbia has postponed till the 26th her departure for Barcelona and Genoa.
The following vessels shifted to-day to the "embarcadero" to ship live-stock:—the Ragna from Dock No. 2. Parklands from No. 3, Lomas from the Darsena and Calabro from Dock No. 3.
Tomasini died to-day on board the floating hospital, thus making 7 victims to yellow fever amongst the residents in Belgrano. His place was subsequently taken by Mr. James Brown, 3rd engineer on board the British ss. Wileysike,
Another suspicious case was reported to-day, this time on the W. C. Mitchell.
On Martin Garcia there is nothing fresh to record.
The Middleton with a sanitary guard on board to-day left the quarantine anchorage for Itacuruzá to load.

La Plata Port.
March 17th

GENERAL.
The Italian bq. Giusseppe Castignope has been charterrd by the firm of Mudd to load 800 tons of linseed.
The R.M.S. Danube entered dock this afternoon at 2·30. Her passengers numbering 124 left at 5.30 for Buenos Aires. All her cargo has been discharged in the roads so that to-morrow she will begin to load.
The s.s Rowton left to-day the Rio Santiago having loaded there 197 steers for account of Raggio Carneiro and Co and 1002 wethers for that of the London Live Stock Co.
The Magdala will fill up here with 700 tons of maize for account of Wiengreen & Co.
The Zeta, which has arrived here from Campana with wheat for London, will load live-stock for account of Ewart.
The Boston City is expected here on Saturday with 900 tons of linseed loaded 400 in Rosario and 500 in Villa Constitucion. She will fill up here with 1000 tons of maize for account of Bossio and Camuyrano.
The Equateur was berthed to-day in Grand Dock at 1.30 p.m.
She like the Danube has already discharged her cargo in the roads. Her passengers, 124 in number, came up by the same train as those by the Danube.
The Middleton should to-morrow finish loading live-stock at the Zaballa "embarcadero".
The Lambert Point left Rio Santiago to-day for Deptford with 323 steers and 709 wethers shipped by Kingsland and Brougham.
